

RHYTHM ROUTE

Carlsberg has joined forces with Spraoi once again to bring you some of the best music around for Spraoi 2011 and there's plenty to be sampled in the many city centre pubs, clubs and hotels over the three days and nights of the festival. Check out the many and varied sounds of the national and international bands on the Carlsberg Rhythm Route at Spraoi 2011.

Baraka

A unique combination of musicians from Ghana, Senegal, Dominica and Ireland featuring musical collaborations that you are unlikely to hear with any other band. Each musician contributes their own individual sound and style. Baraka are edgy, experimental and innovative without losing sight of the fact that entertainment is the key. An exciting mix of dance rhythms, soaring melodies and funky grooves.

Moulding different genres and influences with absorbing harmonies, this is a band with a unique sound that is definitely different. They've been playing music around Ireland for the last 15 years in various bands, but are now out on their own, getting their own songs heard. A must see live show.

The Sullivan Brothers

With their exciting charismatic combination of Funk and Disco, the Cosmic Funk Band are guaranteed to have you dancing the night away. With almost 10 years gigging experience this Cork based 7 piece will win over any audience. There's two female vocalists along with Mr. Funk himself on lead vocals, as well as a brass section, drum and bass, keys and guitar.

The Cosmic Funk Band

Zubop Gambia is a collaboration of London-based worldbeat and jazz music group Zubop and the West African master musicians Mosi Conde (vocals, kora, balafon, guitar, djembe) and Njeġa Sohna (djembe, talking drum, vocals). For the past nineteen years, Zubop have been performing throughout the UK and Europe, playing their unique blend of original music, which is influenced by many musical cultures from around the world.

Kalakuta Millionaires

The Kalakuta Millionaires fuse tunes from the heart of 70s Nigeria, the carnivals of Cuba, the back streets of Brazil and beyond. This afroLatinoFunk orchestra combine blistering bass with stunning harmonies and an explosive rhythm section. They have taken the UK by storm with their dirty mix of Fela Kuti-inspired brass, Latin percussion, afro-psych organ and JB-style funk.

A Waterford band who play sleazy, upbeat, roots and country influenced music, with a dash of rockabilly, featuring the bluesy female vocals of Kelly Power. Swamp Stompers have been creating a buzz around the Waterford music scene since their formation, and their infectious energy, quickly lyrics and good rhythms make for perfect entertainment.

Sam and the Womp

Sam and his band of Wompers perform original high-energy Balkan, ska and dub material with a huge WOMP of gypsy dub-step for pudding. They've created their very own dance – "The Womp" and quite possibly a whole new style of music. Since forming in September 2009 they've performed at Bestival, Secret Garden Party and the BBC London Jazz Festival. This is one live show which is sure to get you dancing. Do The Womp!

THE UNUSUAL SUSPECTS

This renowned five piece Cork based blues and rock band play a variety of covers. Lead singer, Joe O'Callaghan, is an accomplished harmonica, sax and keyboard player. The combination of his vocals, with bass, lead guitar and a dynamic and powerful rhythm section, regularly has audiences dancing in the aisles from the very first number.

A dynamic, exciting rock, soul, blues band hailing from Waterford. Established in late 2009 The Unusual Suspects had a jam packed 2010 playing in some of Irelands most high profile venues and also sharing a stage with some top names. A striking stage presence and an energetic show leave crowds screaming for more.
